Green Bank is the home of the world's largest fully steerable radio telescope and is located in the Green Bank Mountain Range, a state-owned park. The Park Service has asked a federal judge to block the state's move to privatize the facility, arguing the state is circumventing the National Park Service's rules. Gov. Chris Christie has said the telescope should be privatized to raise funds. The state says it needs the money to keep up with rising pension costs. The national park service says the $200 million Green Bank observatory and its 50-acre grounds are sacred Native American territory. It says New Jersey has violated the "quiet title" statute, which prevents states from taking over federally-owned land that's not in use. Green Bank has been a source of local controversy for years, with New Jersey and West Virginia making a push to buy the property and "reclaim" it. And New Jersey lawmakers have suggested it be used to launch a communications satellite. New Jersey plans to sell the property, and both the state and federal government are paying for the move. Officials have estimated the property could sell for up to $1 billion, with the money going toward the state's budget.Q: Difference between Webpack and Commonjs in node.js Why do people prefer Webpack over Commonjs? When should I use one over the other? Which one is better? A: CommonJS module system and webpack are two different tools to handle client-side JavaScript bundling. CommonJS supports a one module-per-file model, while webpack

I have a password in a stored procedure that I would like to hide from users. Is there a way to have code ignore the password, but still run a stored procedure? A: You can encrypt the password using an encryption algorithm like AES (Advanced Encryption Standard) and then decrypt it using the same algorithm in the SP. Here is a link with more info on how to encrypt and decrypt a string: Role of the hypothalamic alpha-adrenergic system in the regulation of sympathetic outflow to the heart and kidneys of conscious rats. We have previously shown that alpha-adrenergic receptors in the rostral ventrolateral medulla (RVL) and rostral ventrolateral tegmentum (RVLT) are involved in the hypotensive actions of clonidine. The present study was designed to evaluate the involvement of the alpha-adrenergic receptor subtypes, alpha(1)-, alpha(2)-, and alpha(3)-adrenoceptors, in the regulation of cardiovascular responses to clonidine. Male Sprague-Dawley rats were chronically instrumented to record arterial pressure, heart rate, renal sympathetic nerve activity, and renal blood flow. Arterial blood pressure and heart rate were controlled by urethane and chloralose. The rats were then allowed to stabilize and were given i.v. infusions of clonidine (0.1, 0.3, 1, and 3 microg/kg/min), phentolamine (5 microg/kg/min), yohimbine (3 77a5ca646e
